

The Longest Mobile Home in the Blue Ridge Mountains

In the comic novel, The Longest Mobile Home in the Blue Ridge Mountains, the main character, Jimral Isenhour is the classic, eccentric mountain man, although rather than being like one of the Hatfields and McCoys, he doesn't have a mean bone or thought in his body, just lots and lots of bad luck. If he'd been the Wright Brothers assistant, all airplanes would have flown only in reverse, or only upside down. His unwilling but polite and loving son, Eli, is regularly recruited by his father to be a part of his inventions and schemes, such as building the longest mobile home in the world, or at least, in the Blue Ridge Mountains. Some of the chapter titles are: The Good SonElis Thumb A Carport in a Storm....When Pigs Fly, Its Usually CoachFight Club MedWe Have Met the Enema, and It Is MineJimrals Zoot Suit and..... Transformation and Redemption. Lawrence Naumoff is a native of North Carolina, and is the author of 6 other novels, including a NYTimes Notable Book of the Year. He teaches at UNC in Chapel Hill.
